Akridge alternative just wishful thinking

Missing from Carolyn Sherman's vision of a smaller development at the former Buick dealership was where she is going to get financial backing ["ANC offers alternative to Akridge design," April 25]. Without financial backing, her vision is just wishful thinking.

Additionally, where the community amenity from her smaller development is a postage-stamp-sized park, Akridge has pledged a substantial monetary donation to Janney Elementary School.

For readers who don't have children at Janney, every year the Janney PTA suggests that parents make a monetary contribution to the PTA. I am pleased that Akridge is stepping up to help alleviate the PTA's need for funds.
